

Conservation:

Conservation is the protection of plants, animals, and natural resources to prevent them from being lost or wasted.

As you journey through SEA LIFE Grapevine you will notice that many of the areas are designed to match the animal's natural habitat.

What is your habitat?: _____

---

Stingray Bay:

You'll see a variety of stingrays such as our happy blue spotted ribbon tail rays along with our cownose rays as they glide along the sea bed. They also like to bury themselves in the sand! This is a behavior they use in the wild to hide from predators. When you visit the ocean you can help protect stingrays by doing the "Stingray Shuffle" Shuffle your feet as you walk and kick up sand to let the rays know you are there!

Practice the Stingray Shuffle around Stingray Bay!

Ocean Tunnel:

Sharks have many features that help them survive life in the ocean! These are called adaptations. Draw in the missing features of this shark to help it live in the ocean!

Sea Turtle Rescue Center:

Visit our turtle rescue center and learn how SEA LIFE helps sea turtles. Did you know that you can protect sea turtle habitats when grocery shopping? Plastic grocery bags look like a sea turtle's favorite snack! Circle what you think that snack is:

Rainforest Adventure:

Did you know rainforests are home to over half of our planet's plant and animal species?

What mode of transportation is the best for the rainforest?

---

Rockpool Exploration:

Swim over to our rockpool to meet some amazing creatures! Rockpools are made when the tide goes out, leaving some water behind in shallow pools on the shore. The creatures living in these pools need to be tough to adapt to different temperatures and even waves crashing over them!

You can get even closer and touch the creatures living here! Touch is one of the 5 senses. Can you name the rest?

_____

_____

Draw Your Favorite!

Wow! You met so many incredible creatures today! Which one was your favorite? Draw them in the box!

Congratulations!

You've completed the SEA LIFE Grapevine Scout activities.

Make sure you pick up your fun scout patch!

